Cricova Winery is a pearl of the vilification of the Republic of Moldova. The winery was founded in 1952 in the former limestone mine, which forms over 100 km of underground labyrinths with a natural and ideal microclimate for the production and maturation of high quality wines.

The history of modern winemaking of the Republic of Moldova was written at a depth of over 60-80 m. underground, where during the year the temperature inside is constant +12 +14 ° C, and the humidity of the air exceeds 85%.

Today “Cricova” Winery is proud of a large range of sparkling wine according to the French method “Champenoise” and quality wines from grapes grown in the most favourable wine areas “IGP Codru” and “IGP Valul lui Traian”, where are grown local varieties: Feteasca Neagră, Rara Neagră, Feteasca Albă, Viorica, Alb de Onițcani, as well as European varieties: Cabernet-Sauvignon, Merlot, Pinot-Noir, Shyraz, Pinot Grigio, Chardonnay, Sauvignon. Innovative production technologies and the bottling line allow us to bottle 10,000 bottles per hour, which offers maximum work efficiency and optimization. “Cricova” wines have become a symbol of quality and have been appreciated over the years at the world's top wine competitions, achieved over 500 awards, and exported in over 30 countries all over the world.
Touristic Complex annually hosts over 70,000 visitors, offering multilingual excursions in the department of storage and maturation of wines, department of sparkling wine production according to the “Champenoise” method, underground tasting rooms, wine museum and the National Wine Collection, which preserves remarkable wines of “Cricova” and the famous collection of Hermann Göring, including a unique bottle in the world " Jewish Easter " from 1902.
Guests can visit a unique Underground Restaurant “Regatul Vinului”, where visitors can enjoy traditional Moldavian and European cuisine that go well together with high-quality “Cricova” wines.
“Cricova” Winery became an object of the National Cultural Heritage of the Republic of Moldova in August 2003, confirming during years its status as a dedicate ambassador for the promotion of the winemaking and becoming a true national symbol. It is not by chance that “Cricova” cellars fit together at least three unique attractions: wine cellars with a unique natural microclimate, the richest collection of unique wines and the modern tourist complex.

Order of the Republic

The uniqueness and significance of the company for the state and the people of Moldova found true reflection in 2002 when the company, the first among the country's enterprises, was awarded the Order of the Republic.

It was officially named the National Cultural Heritage of the Republic of Moldova and remains an unparalleled example of the recognition of the efforts of a single company in the history of the national economy.

Dry Red Wine

By definition, it is an ideal wine, with an amazing pathway towards perfection, from the grape berry to the emblem of the saving stork which proudly describes its individuality.

As the name suggests it, the Virgin wine represents the mere expression of innocence and chastity as opposed to technologies. From grape-picking to fermentation, the oenologists of Cricova have surveilled the overripe grapes that turned into Bacchus liquor, without any interference, leaving the genuine nature of Merlot to display its gorgeousness.

Thus, through a long and hard gestation process, the Virgin wine rediscovers its origin, becoming a full wine, with smooth passages from currant to oak and wild cherries bouquet.

Ice Wine

Wine made of white sweet over ripe grapes

IIt is produced in accordance with the classical German "Eiswein" technology from selected Muscat Ottonel grapes, which naturally accumulate the required amount of sugar in the already over ripe grapes.

The wine is special because it is produced at a temperature of -8°C, from frozen grapes, so that their crushing results in an extraordinary must. "Cricova Ice Wine" is strawcoloured wine with intense and fine flavours typical of the Muscat variety. The wine has a fresh and delicate taste.

Wine-growing zones with Protected Geographical Indication (PGI)

The wine sector in the Republic of Moldova has an important role in the image of the country, which over the years has been known for its extraordinary wines. Even the shape of the country remembers the shape of the grape. In order to maintain the quality of the wines and their identity, extensive studies of the terror were started, and 3 areas with Protected Geographical Indication were delimited: PGI Codru, PGI Valul lui Traian, PGI Ștefan Vodă, which provides the consumer that the product originates from a delimited wine-growing zones, obtained from certain grape varieties and produced according to strict rules, which offer quality and a reputation characteristic of the wine-growing zones specify on the label. And to guarantee the authenticity and quality of PGI products, producers of wines are taken into account by the National Office of Vine and Wine to monitor the quality of wine at each stage of production, starting with the plantation of grapevines and ending with the wine itself.

PGI Codru wines

The composition of the soil, as well as the specific climate of the wine region "Codru" has created excellent environments for the production of high quality white wines, as well as exceptional sparkling wines. White grapes are grown on the slopes of the region getting about 63%, compared to red grapes - 37%, of the total area registered for the production of wine products with PGI.

The soil compositions as well as the specific climate of the «Codru» wine region have created excellent environments for the production of high quality white wines as well as exceptional sparkling wines. White grapes are grown on the slopes of the region, accounting for about 63% of the total area taken into account for the production of wine products with a PGI, compared to red grapes with 37%.

The relief of the IGP Codru region is strongly fragmented by a network of valleys and raves, above all, by multiple cliffs and hills, intersected by streams, and favorable terroir for white wines which are distinguished by yellow-lime color with green reflexes, which at the maturing stage becomes straw-yellow to gold. At the olfactory level, they are characterized by freshness, a well-pronounced aromatic profile, high mineralization, and a strong floral bouquet and fruitful. All of these components are mixed with a delicious taste that expresses the freshness of the summer fruit. Sparkling wines are characterized by long-standing and abundant effervescence. The bouquet is smooth and floral with round and comprehensive flavor. Red wines are characterized by ruby red color, which remembers the color of cherries and pomegranate, with violet reflexes that turn toward the brick color as a result of the maturing. Original and smooth bouquet with notes of red berry, blackcurrant, raspberries, blackberries, sour cherries and plums well combined with sweet spices, cinnamon, sweet red pepper, give light, deliciously and well-round taste of the wines.

The varieties grown in the Codru PGI are: Feteasca Alba, Sauvignon, Muscat Ottonel, Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, Cabernet-Sauvignon, Rara Neagră.

PGI Valul lui Traian wines

Wine products in PGI “Valul lui Traian” are dry white, rose, red, sparkling wines, wines made from overripe and raising grapes and liqueur wines. Red grapes are grown on the slopes of the region, accounting for about 60% of the total area taken into account for the production of wine products with this PGI, compared to white grapes with 40%. Red wines from this region are more intense in color than in other regions, ranging from pomegranate red to dark cherry red; aromas are fruity and well-structured with smooth taste and a long aftertaste. White wines are smooth and refreshing, combined well with complex, elegant and fresh fruit aromas give good structure and balance in taste. Rose wines are soft pink in color with a reflection of red berries and rose petals; the bouquet is marked by fresh fruit flavors on a mineral background, soft, fruity and fresh taste. Sparkling wines are characterized by green to straw yellow, pale pink or ruby red color depending on the variety used in the production. Extremely fruity and floral aromas; round, comprehensive and distinct taste is distinguished by characteristic and abundance effervescence. The liqueur wines in this region have always been glorified because of the gorgeous bouquet characterized by specific notes from nuances, dried fruit, jam, and beeswax for white wines and dried plums and chocolate for red wines.

The varieties of grapes grown in the PGI Valul lui Traian are: Feteasca Neagra, Cabernet-Sauvignon, Merlot, Shyraz, Pinot Grigio, Viorica, Feteasca Regală, and Chardonnay.
